

HHA Agency License Terms

These terms govern organizational use and distribution of the Vrenara HHA First Assignment Guide. Complete the license details below or retain the Gumroad order record and accompanying certificate with this document.

LICENSED ORGANIZATION	As identified in the Gumroad order, invoice, written offer, or license certificate
AUTHORIZED USERS	The user limit selected and paid for at checkout
LANGUAGE EDITION	English, Spanish, or bilingual, as selected at checkout
SITE PERMISSION	Single-site or multi-site only as stated in the order or written authorization
PRODUCT	Vrenara HHA First Assignment Guide

Purchasing this product constitutes the purchaser's and Licensed Organization's acceptance of these HHA Agency License Terms.

1. License grant

Subject to full payment and continued compliance with these terms, Vrenara LLC grants the Licensed Organization a limited, nonexclusive, nontransferable license to use and distribute the purchased language edition of the Vrenara HHA First Assignment Guide to no more than the purchased number of Authorized Users. The license applies only to the Licensed Organization and the site scope stated in the order, written offer, or certificate.

2. Authorized Users

Authorized Users are the Licensed Organization's employees, trainees, students, or other internal program participants who receive access under the purchased license. Each person who receives a digital or printed copy counts as one Authorized User. Replacing a person who no longer has access is permitted only if the prior person's access and retained copies are removed to the extent reasonably practicable.

3. Permitted use

- Download and retain one administrative master copy for license management.
- Provide the purchased edition to Authorized Users for internal onboarding, training, workforce-readiness, or professional-reference purposes.
- Print copies for Authorized Users, provided the total number of people receiving digital or printed copies does not exceed the purchased limit.
- Use a controlled internal delivery method that limits access to the Licensed Organization and its Authorized Users.

4. User limit and distribution records

The Licensed Organization must not distribute or provide access beyond the purchased Authorized User limit. It is responsible for maintaining a reasonable distribution record showing the recipient name or internal identifier, delivery date, language edition, and delivery method. Additional users require an upgraded license or written authorization from Vrenara.

5. Site permission

A single-site license permits use only at the one physical or operational location identified by the Licensed Organization. A multi-site license permits use only at the locations specifically listed in the order, written offer, or certificate. Affiliated entities, franchises, branches, contractors, or separately operated programs are not included unless expressly identified in writing.

6. Prohibited conduct

- No resale, sublicensing, rental, commercial redistribution, or use as a stand-alone product offered for a fee.
- No public posting, including public websites, social media, public file-sharing services, open online courses, or unrestricted links.
- No sharing, forwarding, lending, or transferring the files to another agency, school, employer, nonprofit, consultant, or organization.
- No distribution to more people or locations than the purchased license permits.
- No removal of Vrenara branding, copyright notices, license notices, or attribution.
- No co-branding, editing, translation, modification, adaptation, extraction, derivative work, or incorporation into another product without prior written permission from Vrenara.

7. Co-branding and modifications

Co-branding, logo placement, content changes, customized editions, translations, form-field changes, and incorporation into an agency manual, learning system, or commercial package require Vrenara's prior written permission. A separate fee, proof approval, or agreement may apply.

8. Ownership

Vrenara LLC retains all ownership, copyright, trademark, and other intellectual-property rights in the product. The purchase grants limited use rights only. It does not transfer ownership of the files, content, design, brand, or underlying intellectual property.

9. Security and privacy

The Licensed Organization must use reasonable controls to prevent unauthorized access or distribution. The guide is a No-PHI resource and is not intended to store client, patient, employee medical, or other sensitive personal information. The Licensed Organization remains responsible for its own privacy, security, recordkeeping, and compliance obligations.

10. Educational-resource limitation

The guide is an educational and organizational resource. It is not medical, nursing, legal, employment, regulatory, accreditation, or compliance advice. It does not replace a plan of care, supervising-nurse direction, employer policies, applicable law, payer requirements, or emergency procedures.

11. Suspension or termination

The license ends automatically if the Licensed Organization materially violates these terms and does not cure the violation after notice when a cure is reasonably available. Upon termination, the organization must stop distributing the product and remove unauthorized digital copies and access. Provisions concerning ownership, prohibited conduct, and limitations survive termination.

12. Order-specific terms

The Gumroad order confirmation, invoice, written Vrenara offer, and license certificate identify the applicable organization, user limit, edition, site scope, and any approved exceptions. If a signed written agreement expressly conflicts with these terms, that signed agreement controls for the stated conflict.

13. Acceptance and contact

By purchasing, downloading, accessing, or distributing the agency-licensed product, the purchaser and Licensed Organization accept these terms. Questions, upgrade requests, and written-permission requests should be sent to hello@vrenara.com.
